A Postal-Card.

There were some mad men in a certain Kentucky postoffice a few days ago. A postal-card was dropped into the letter-box addressed to the "Rev. John Penobscot, ———." It was an ordinary card, and the postmaster was an ordinary postmaster. He took it up, glanced at the address, turned it leisurely over and read:

July 2, 1879.—You, to whom this card is not addressed, and who, nevertheless, have the check to read it, are a contemptible, unprincipled sneak, and a prying, pushy, malicious coward.

GEORGE F. DUGAN. The postmaster laid the card gently down and lounged to the other end of the house, softly whistling "Nancy Lee." In due time the clerk came upon the card, perused it, and made the neighborhood hideous with the howls of his pet dog, which he kicked in the ribs. How the card fared with the various route agents through which it passed it is impossible to say, nor do we know whether it was read by the woman who is postmistress of the office where the Rev. John Penobscot is supposed to get his mail, but the report is that on the day it reached there she smashed a bottle of ink on her husband's head, spanked the children all round, and chewed up ninety-five cents' worth of wax. We cannot be too careful never to write on postal-cards anything in the least calculated to wound the sensitive delicacy of the postoffice people's feelings.—Louisville Courier Journal

Who Was Washington, Aynow

An American gentleman, who has resided in London for several years, recently told me a funny story. He was one day invited out to dinner at the house of an eminent London solicitor. The daughter of the host sat next to him at table and observed him with much curiosity, finally making the stereotyped remark that "she was surprised to see him so white; she had thought that all Americans were copper colored." Soon after some question arose respecting our National currency, and my friend took from his pocket some specimens of our bank notes, among which was one bearing the portrait of General Washington. The note passed from hand to hand around the table, and finally came to the young lady before mentioned. "Whose portrait is that?" she asked of my friend. "Gen. Washington's," he answered. "And who was he?" she queried. "One of our Presidents," cautiously answered the gentleman, who was rather anxious to see how far his fair neighbor's ignorance would extend. "One of your Presidents—ah, indeed! Did he come before or after Mr. Lincoln?"—Cor. Philadelphia Telegraph.

Building in New York.

From the Springfield Republican. Building in New York City has about got back to ante-panic conditions. The number of buildings for whose erection permits were obtained during the first six months of the current year was 1,103, a larger number than in any half year since the real estate bubble of 1871 was blown. On the other hand, the buildings put up then were largely stores and big blocks, while the building now is, nineteen-twentieths dwelling-houses, flats and tenements. The total estimated cost of the buildings now under construction, $11,000,000, is two thirds that of the buildings ten years ago, due in part to greater cheapness in material and labor, but also to be attributed to the change in the character of the buildings themselves.

AN ERA OF REACTION.

From the New York Tribune.

Looking at the present condition of the principal civilized nations of the earth, the question may well be asked, Are we in the midst of a period of political reaction? Russia has relapsed into an iron absolutism, and the bayonet has taken the place of the civil law. In Austria a coalition of Feudalists, Clericals and Bohemian Separatists has defeated the party which gave to the people of that Empire representative rights, a free press and a responsible Ministry. In Germany, Prince Bismarck, who may be said to be himself the Government, has abandoned the Liberals and joined the Ultramontanes; and for the sake of securing the means of increasing his already enormous military force, he seems ready to change his entire civil policy. In Italy the party which looks back with regret upon the times of the petty tyrannical Dukes and Principalities seem to be growing in power. Spain some years ago shook off the Republic like an ill-fitting garment, and resumed the tinsel robes of monarchy. In Great Britain the Beaconsfield Government has tricked out the Queen with the incongruous title of Empress and has more than once violated the constitutional principle that makes the Ministry the servant of the Commons in all matters of national importance. France is the only conspicuous exception to the rule of reaction. Republican government is taking firmer root every day in that country, and is bearing fruits of contentment, education and progress. On this side of the Atlantic we have not been able to escape the retrograde movement. Our Congress has passed into the control of the party which opposed the whole work of national unity, enfranchisement and equal rights, accomplished at the cost of four years of war and four more of strenuous political effort. The party which sustained slavery, aided the rebellion, defended race distinctions and supported unequal suffrage, is now in possession of the law-making branch of the Government, and is planning to capture the Executive next year.

At first glance all this looks discouraging. But from a philosophic point of view the reaction appears only as a necessary feature of the law of progress. There is always a slipping back after an important advance, and the retrograde movement goes on until it awakens alarm and causes a fresh effort to rescue society or government from its influence. General Garfield once illustrated the law of progress by a diagram showing a number of perpendicular lines connected by lines sloping downward. The perpendicular lines represented the great efforts of humanity to reach a higher plane, and the descending lines the falling away from the standards thus attained. The descent, however, never went to as low a level as the one from which the upward movement began, and each successive advance reached a higher elevation than the one before it.

If the civilized world is sliding down hill from the height of liberty, justice and nationality which it lately reached after such severe struggles, we may be sure that the movement will be sharply checked before long, and will be followed by a fresh impulse of progress that will carry it up to a still loftier plane. Europe will not return to absolutism, nor will the destinies of America be long controlled by the men who sought to divide the country in order to perpetuate human slavery.

General Secretary's Report for the Month of July, 1878.

To the Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, of Decatur, Ill.

DEAR BRETHREN:—The work of the Association has been continued through the hot month that has just closed with but little abatement in the zeal of our workers. Had a report been given for the month of July, 1878, but 12 meetings would have been reported, 6 of which were held in the rooms. This report announces 58 meetings, 43 of which were held in the rooms.

One year ago our membership was scarcely two-thirds its present number, and our workers were few. As we look at what the Lord has done for and through our organization, we feel that it is surely a vine of His own planting and one he has been pleased to nourish.

Only a few calls have been made upon the Committee on Poor, and consequently but little has been done by this committee. The report of its work for the past month will be included in the secretary's report for August.

During July 5 new members were enrolled; 80 visitors called at the rooms; 300 magazines, papers and tracts were given away; 245 invitations to attend church and association meetings were distributed, and 100 letters, cards and circulars concerning the convention were mailed.

Meetings were held as follows:

Daily Prayer Meetings: 27

Cottages: 10

Assoc. " Tuesday Eve.: 5

Gospel: 4

Business: 4

Bible Study: 2

Executive Committee: 1

Meeting in the Country: 1

Total: 58

Total attendance about 550.

The committee appointed to publish an Association Bulletin has issued an edition of two thousand copies, most of which have been judiciously distributed. The use of the Bulletin seems to be one of the most effective means of acquainting the public with our work and securing interest and cooperation in the same.

The time for the State Convention is rapidly approaching. Let us see that ample preparation is made for the comfort and accommodation of those who are to be our guests on that occasion; and let us seek that preparation of mind and heart that will enable us to gain the greatest good from this important gathering.

Yours fraternally,

I. J. DAVIS,

Gen'l. Secretary.

WELL, BY JOVE.

The stuck up exclusiveness of some of these English noblemen is positively refreshing. The other morning, while Lord Loftus was breakfasting at the palace, a solemn looking chap across the table suspended operations on his section of boiled rubber and ejaculated: "Lord!" The English stranger supposed the sad man was about to say grace, but instead of that the latter repeated, inquiringly: "Lord?" "Are you addressing me, sir?" inquired the new Colonial Governor. "I am, Lord. I want to make a little business proposition to you, I've started about the reddest little watering place in the whole State up in Sonoma county. Everything way up. Sulphur spring, bowling alley, pianna in the parlor—everything. All I want is to advertise it a little. Now, I notice you Lord fellaers are first-rate cards for hotels. S'posin you come up and spend a few days on my lay out. You can stay a square month, if you like, and it shan't cost you a cent—'ceptin' for drinks, if you are much on the imbibe. What yer say?" "Well, by Jove," said his Lordship, putting up his eyeglass. "I know it's a square-toed liberal offer, but I'm givin' you the straight tip. All you'll have to do will be help carry, and mobble sing a little with the ladies and play billiards with the boys. If there's a hop well make you floor manager and—" But the purse-proud autocrat had ordered the rest of his meal sent to his room, and walked frigidly out. These airy English never had any snap about a speculation, and that's a fact.—San Francisco Post.

Carrier Pigeons.

There has been a good deal of interest hereabout of late in carrier pigeons and their remarkable journeys, and the flight of six of these birds from Columbus, O., to New York, a distance of 500 miles, is specially notable. They were loosed at Columbus Sunday morning at 5:30, and one of them, owned by Oscar Donner, arrived at New York Monday at 11:45 a. m., while John Van Opstal's little blue chequer got home at 2:50 p. m. the same day. The others have not yet been heard from. This is the best time on record in this country. A number of pigeons recently made a flight from Dayton, O., to Philadelphia, which is also 500 miles, but it took the birds over two days to make the trip.

MEMPHIS.

The Fever Gradually Spreading.

New Orleans Free from Epidemic.

WHEREABOUTS OF SITTING BULL.

MEMPHIS, Aug. 5.—Four new cases were reported to the Board of Health this morning.

Three deaths have occurred since last night—Rosa Hendricks, Louis Gresham and George White (colored).

Rev. Father Fahey's condition this morning is improved, as is also the wife of Chief of Police Athey. John Waters and Ed. Moon are reported dying. The weather is clear and warm.

A telegram from Blount Springs, Ala., announces the death, last night, of Capt. C. B. Church, a prominent citizen of this city. The deceased was a well-known steamboat owner, having before the war commanded several large steamers plying between Memphis and New Orleans. Paralysis caused his death.

Fifteen new cases in all were reported to the Board of Health to-day, ten of whom were colored.

Two additional deaths have occurred—John Waters and Ida Rebler.

The fever is gradually spreading from the two infected points and a greater mortality can be anticipated.

At a meeting of the Committee of Safety this afternoon, it was resolved that ration and medical attention be supplied to all camps and the society alike provided that monies or contributions received by said camp or societies be turned over to the Safety Committee.

The city remains remarkably quiet and dull.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Reports from United States Consuls in Europe show that wages in the United States are double those of Belgium, Denmark, France and England, and three times those of Germany, Italy and Spain, and four times those of the Netherlands, and that the prices of the necessities of life are lower in the United States than in Europe; that more misery results from strikes, drinking, Socialism and Communism in England and Germany than from all other causes combined, hard times included.

The State Department adds to the above synopsis of the reports which it has prepared for publication the following remarks:

"The reading of these reports will remind many of our naturalized workmen who are so fierce in denouncing the condition of affairs in the United States of the hopeless condition of that labor from which they escaped by immigrating to this Republic, and open their eyes anew to the superior position of the workmen of this country. It will show our native workmen the difference between labor disfranchised, impoverished, degraded and hopeless, in Europe, and labor free, independent, honorable and an equal sharer in political power, in America."

St. Paul, Aug. 5.—Gen. Ferry, commanding the Department headquarters, has received a dispatch from Gen. Miles, dated Camp on Rock Creek, July 25th, in which he says Major Walsh, of the Canadian mounted police, accompanied by the Sioux chief Long Day, came into camp and stated that Sitting Bull's whole camp, five and eight thousand people, comprising several hostile tribes, had moved north to Swan Lake, about eighty miles from the line, where they had determined to remain. The chief brought assurances that the Indians would make their permanent residence on Canadian soil, would abstain from all hostile movements on this side, return the stolen property and desist from hunting American buffalo unless permitted to do so under the supervision of United States officials.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 5.—Mrs. Howe and son are out of danger. Dr. White, of the Sanitary Association, states that no new cases have appeared for six days, and reports the city free from yellow fever. The physicians say the fever has run its course for the present summer.

For the Ladies.—I am daily receiving new and elegant styles in spring and summer millinery. Call and see me, old friends and new. M. FALCONER, 18 Merchant street, up stairs. apr 12-dtf

The Chicago Times gave Old Dan Rice's circus which is to give two exhibitions in Decatur, on Saturday, August 9th, the following editorial notice:

"The great James Robinson and his two sons are the principal riding features of this circus, which is now exhibiting and attracting thousands daily to their pavilions on Halsted street. Mr. Robinson's prestige as a rider is too well-known to require any lengthy notice. The fact that he has rode around the world and has challenged the riders of every nation and in every clime to ride against or dispute his title to the well-earned Diamond Star and Gold Belt of the World is in itself a convincing proof that he has no superior and no equal on earth. Mr. Robinson and his sons execute all of their brilliant acts upon their naked horses, and do not require the broad pads and upholstered backs so common amongst the present day riders. The rest of the company are very strong and attractive, each athlete selected for his ardent worth. The show is compact, elegant, refined and elevating and richly merits the immense patronage now bestowed upon it."
